Bank Robber Suspect Held at L. Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lloyd Pulliam, 44, of Arlington, Va., was being held today in connection with a robbery that netted more than $21,000 from a branch office of the First National Bank here Tuesday.

Police said he was carrying a pistol and a black briefcase containing about $21,000 when he was arrested at nearby liquor store 30 minutes after the robbery.

Mrs. Dorothy Becton, one of four women who work in the branch at the Tower Building in downtown Little Rock, said the robber entered a door from the lobby and walked the length of the office to where she was standing behind the counter.

She said he asked "Are you ladies closed?" then handed her a brief case with his left hand and pulled his pistol with his right hand. "You know what to do with it," she quoted him as saying. After she had put the money into the briefcase, the man took it and left the office through a front door, she said. A bank employee, George W. Foster III, 20, of Little Rock, who entered the office moments later, followed the man through the downtown streets where some 25,000 persons had gathered to watch the annual Arkansas Livestock Exposition parade. He alerted police after losing sight of the man near the liquor store where Pulliam was arrested.

Man Charged With Perjury in Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Roy Ferguson, about 19, formerly of Farmington (Washington County), was charged with first degree perjury Monday in connection with his testimony before a Grand Jury here March 13.

Deputy Pros. Atty. Richard Wells alleges that Ferguson saw someone kill George H. Watson, 50, of Farmington, seven months ago by striking Watson on the head with a tire tool. Ferguson, who now resides in Florida, told the Grand Jury he saw Watson fall from a moving car.

Watson died of a head wound March 8.

The average man will never understand economics until someone can successfully explain to him why a restaurant has to charge from $1 to $4 more for a dinner than it does for lunch, when the amount of food served is exactly the same—and only six hours older.

Few things give a man a more undue sense of importance than the act of making out his will—and it usually is an act. The greatest pleasure in having your will drawn up isn't the amount of money you have to leave—it's the number of names you plan to leave out.

Bar Group Honors Judge Arnold

The following resolution has been passed by the Hempstead County Bar Association:

RESOLUTION WHEREAS, the membership of Hempstead County, Arkansas, Bar Association assembled in regular session, feeling the patriotic urge to endorse and express appreciation to the Honorable William H. Arnold, III, Judge of the Eighth Judicial Circuit Court of Law, for re-establishing the custom of the Judges of the Law Courts serving our forefathers of wearing a Robe when conducting the business of the court and of formally opening court with the ceremony of Medieval Times by directing the Bailiff to direct all persons to rise, upon the Judge's entrance to the courtroom, and deliver the age old cry: "Oyez, oyez, oyer, all persons having business before the Honorable, the Circuit Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas, are admonished to draw near and give their attention, for the Court is now sitting. God save the United States and this Honorable Court." NOW, THEREFORE, the membership of the Hempstead County, Arkansas, Bar Association does this third day of October, 1967, adopt this resolution expressing the Association's appreciation to Judge Arnold and directs that same be spread upon the minutes and a copy be furnished the Management of the Hope Star Publishing Company and the Management of Radio Station KXAR.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

STRANGERS WHEN YOU MEET? Dear Helen: They say your entire body changes every seven years. Each cell is different. Even your personality isn't the same. I know this to be true in my case, as the allergies I had seven years ago are gone; my hair has become curly, my skin has changed from oily to dry. Also the things I liked once I dislike now. From an intensely domestic female, I've evolved into a business woman.

Then why should we not anticipate divorce? We aren't the same persons we were when we married. Maybe all marriage contracts should carry a dissolution clause so that people could part each decade or so unless they elected to stay together. Think of the time, money and trouble this would save! Just a "So Long," rather than a divorce suit. Naturally, agreements as to property, children, etc., would be made at the time of the marriage. Someone mentioned this in your column about four years ago, and I think it should be pursued.

If people weren't tied together by legal strings that were hard to break, maybe they'd stay together more happily. When you know you can walk away, you often don't. ---THINKER

Dear T: You "thinkers" make one big mistake. You look on people as puppets, not human beings. Your "logical, rational solutions" to the marriage mess sound fine on paper, but I'd hate to see them in action.

Too bad more mates don't follow the only real formula for a happy marriage---"Be kind to each other." ---H.

PERSONAL TO "CONFUSED": If you think a carbon-copy letter will rate you a reply from a columnist, you truly are confused!

In the first place, we'd rather not confuse you further with varying opinions. In the second place, wouldn't you resent being considered a second, third-even fifth columnist? The carbon you sent me was so blurred and indistinct, it must have been one of several! ---H.

Dear Helen: Our neighbors are nice but without a doubt the noisiest people in town. Recently we did some decorating and had the drapes down. Over trotted this dame and asked, "What is going on over here?"

I can't go down town or dig in the garden without getting the third degree. Just last week we left for the day. We had not been home 15 minutes until they were over asking where we had been.

We know we are being watched every minute. It's all in the name of friendship, but they're driving us---BATTY

Dear Batty: Nonsense or friendliness? If your neighbors are nice people otherwise, don't shoot them down for one fault, but if they take over your lives, then back them off by pointedly ignoring their questions. ---H.

Dear Helen: I'd like to make

No Hippies as Life Planners Gather

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — There wasn't a hippie in sight as some 2,500 planners gathered this week to discuss the next half century of American life. But the hippie movement was much in evidence.

Speaker after speaker from the list of 65 conference participants dwelt in their talks on the hippies—their meaning and their likely effect on the future of the United States.

Some saw in the withdrawal of the hippies from conventional U.S. culture the first seeds of a massive revolt against a technology explosion the speakers felt threatens to strangle individuality.

Others saw in the jobless, responsibility-rejecting hippies the specter of millions of Americans in a future where computer science will have replaced workers with machines.

That the hippies were mentioned at all at the American Institute of Planners prestigious "The Next 50 Years" conference indicates the impact the movement already has had on U.S. life.

Few speakers who talked of the hippies indicated they felt the movement was anywhere near its peak.

August Heckscher, commissioner of New York City's Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administration, warned against dismissing the hippies as merely a fad. He indicated they differ sharply from the goldfish-swallowing collegians of other years.

Heckscher said the hippies may "represent the beginning of a withdrawal from the values and concepts which have dominated the Western world for more than five centuries."

"They may be the beginning of an antitechnological movement which will slow down the mindless pursuit of technological change carried out for its own sake, without concern for the human values it supposedly concerns."

Carl Oglesby, a self-styled radical activist who lectures at Antioch College, also saw the hippie movement as a revolt against a civilization dominated by technology.

And Oglesby gave this description of the average, middle-class product of the "American dream come true" he said the hippie is determined to avoid becoming:

"He has everything the country can offer. He knows how to be educated and how to hold a professional job, how much money he will earn, what kind of house and neighborhood he can expect to live in.

"He will never be hungry or disgraced. Certain tables of social statistics even allow him to predict with impressive accuracy how long he will live, when he will suffer from his first ulcer or heart attack, and when his wife will be unfaithful to him for the first time."

Oglesby added: "In brief, his situation is desperate. He will produce the highest suicide rate the West has seen."

a comment that will help "Not Long" and perhaps others whose loved ones have stopped showing affection since the verdict is cancer.

I was very close to my Mother and oh, how I miss her! Last year when we learned she had cancer, I think I tried to cut myself away from her before we actually lost her. I loved her deeply but could not be affectionate for fear of breaking down in front of her. I could have screamed for hours! I know how "Not Long" husband must feel. I did what I could for my Mother. But I didn't have the strength to shower her with demonstrated love. And it wasn't that I loved her less!—BEEN THROUGH IT

"Let us with renewed consecration dedicate ourselves to the purpose of our (club) to bring the spiritualizing force of music to the inner life of our (community)." This modification of the Music Federation Collect was the message brought by Mrs. Clarence Geist, Vice-President of the Friday Music Club, at the annual President's Luncheon held in September at the Heritage House to honor Mrs. Sam W. Strong, Jr.

Marigolds, celosia, and pen-sil slim candles formed the centerpiece on the luncheon table where covers were laid for 26. Mrs. Strong expressed appreciation to hostesses, Mrs. B. W. Edwards, Mrs. Bess Evans, and Mrs. Clarence Geist for the luncheon and urged all to attend the district meeting in Camden in October. She also stressed the importance of the music club and emphasized its purpose was not only social but also a service to the community.

After lunch the group was entertained by Miss Donna Connolly, who sang several religious and secular songs that included "Without Him," "I Discovered the Way of Gladness," "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing,"

4 Manager Jobs up in the Majors

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Four managers' jobs still are open in the major leagues as the second guessing and "it was learned" season opens with the gathering of the clan for the World Series. Not only is the Kansas City job open but the franchise is floating. Charley Finley is expected to ask for permission to move—probably to Oakland or Seattle—at a special American League meeting later this month. He probably will get enough votes to make it stick. Only then will he have time to think about a successor to interim Manager Luke Appling.

Pittsburgh has given Danny Murtaugh a new job, thus eliminating the veteran from any thoughts of the job he didn't want. Dick Groat, retired shortstop, and Bill Virdon, a manager in the New York Mets' chain and former Pirate center fielder, are high in the rumor league, along with Mickey Vernon.

The Pirates probably would like to get Al Lopez out of retirement but Al has too much fun playing golf and making a few trips to Chicago in his advisory capacity with the White Sox.

Paul Richards' bombshell at Atlanta just might be Paul Richards to manager the Braves. Lum Harris still is the leader in the rumor league.

The New York Mets are due to pick the successor to Wes Westrum before too many days have passed. Yogi Berra has to be a possibility if he wants to give up a nice safe job as a coach for the perils of managing a 10th place team.

If Gil Hodges didn't have a year-to-go-on his Washington contract he would be the favorite. Some people think the Mets still may lure Hodges to Shea.

Lefty Gomez was watching the St. Louis Cardinals attack the friendly left field wall at Fenway Park Tuesday afternoon when a sports writer asked him how the wall had affected him in his pitching days.

"The wall didn't bother me," quipped Lefty. "It was the hitters."

Tony Conigliaro will play the same role that Dick Williams played for Brooklyn in the 1952 World Series with the Yankees. Although Conigliaro, out of action with double vision due to a beaning, is not on the active list he will be permitted to sit on the Red Sox bench in uniform. Williams, a utility man with the Dodgers, also was given the same courtesy in '52 when he had a shoulder separation and was reduced to the role of a "yeller."

In the 1953 Series, Williams was a Dodger pinch hitter in

Santiago and Gibson Go in Opener

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Every baseball fan who was out of diapers at the time remembers the daring dash of Enos Slaughter that enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to beat the Boston Red Sox in the 1946 World Series.

That, however, isn't the first thing recalled by Red Schoendienst and Bobby Doerr, the opposing second basemen in that Series who again are on different sides for the latest clash between St. Louis and Boston.

"We won it," said Schoendienst, the Cardinal manager, replying to the question, "What do you remember best about that Series?"

"Losing it," was the answer from Doerr, Red Sox coach who had just finished hitting grounders to the Boston infielders in their final workout for today's start of the 1967 Series.

Schoendienst will send Bob Gibson, a fireballing right-hander against the Red Sox in the opener.

Jose Santiago, also a right-hander, opposed him, gaining the distinction of being the first Puerto Rican ever to start a Series opener.

The situation this year is the exact opposite of what it was in 1946 when the Cardinals edged Boston four games to three, winning the seventh game as Slaughter raced from first to the plate on Harry Walker's hit to left-center field.

That year the Cardinals, under freshman Manager Eddie Dyer, had to beat Brooklyn in a playoff to win the National League pennant while the Red Sox coasted to the American League crown by 12 games.

This season it was the Red Sox, under first-year manager Dick Williams, who had to win the last two games of the regular season to take the AL pennant while St. Louis breezed by 10½ games.

Schoendienst, however, doesn't see any significance in a team having an easy race or a tough one.

"I don't think either team has an advantage in that way," Schoendienst said. "I don't think the Red Sox are tired. They showed that against Minnesota. And now they've had two days rest. That's all you need."

"As for us, after we won it, we just played the same way we had been. We won our last three games so we weren't letting up."

Schoendienst, 44, sees at least one similarity between the Red Sox of 1946 and the Red Sox of 1967.

"They had one thing we knew about before the series," he said, "and that was a great hitter, Ted Williams. Now they have another great hitter we know about, Carl Yastrzemski."

Doerr, now 49 with his curly hair turned gray, remembers how sad it was to lose that series.

"It was a terrific letdown," he recalled. "We thought we had the club to do it. Losing it was terribly disappointing. We just ran into a club that was red hot coming out of a playoff. Our club could be keyed up in the same way."

"The only thing is their pitching staff is rested good, and it could be that our staff will be a little tired."

Following Santiago to the mound for Boston will be Jim Lonborg, 22-9, in Thursday's second game and Gary Bell, 13-13, in the Saturday contest at St. Louis.

Porker-Texas Tickets Stolen

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — E. L. Albright of Pine Bluff said Tuesday that someone had entered his service station here and escaped with 121 tickets to the Arkansas-Texas football game Oct. 21 at Little Rock.

Albright said he discovered the tickets missing from a money pouch in his desk about 2:30 p.m. Monday. He said some $17 worth of coins in the pouch had not been taken.

All of the tickets were for seats in the south end zone. Albright, who said he buys blocks of tickets for all the Little Rock games, then sells them along with seats on chartered buses, said the University of Arkansas ticket office had agreed to replace them with specially printed duplicates.

Albright said he had purchased 176 of the $4 tickets. He said all had been sold, but that only 55 had been distributed.

Between You'n' Me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

BALTIMORE—(NEA)—On Tuesday, John Unitas limits his arm exercises to a few casual flips of screen passes—the kind you'd throw if you were tossing a loaf of bread over the back yard fence to a neighbor.

On Wednesday, he unlimbers and throws passes for a concentrated 20 minutes. On Thursday, he cuts it to 10 minutes, and by Friday it's down to five. Saturday becomes a total day of rest.

And then on Sunday, like against the San Francisco 49ers, Johnny Unitas goes to work and throws 37 passes, completes 22 of them for 353 yards and two touchdowns in a 41-7 romp by the Baltimore Colts.

At the age of 34, in his 12th professional season, Johnny Unitas has learned to take it easy. He throws the football less than an hour during an entire week because physical attrition has sapped the limberness of his right arm and left him with a condition that is known in polite circles as tennis elbow.

"It's never going to get any better," admitted Unitas. "The ligaments are separated from the bone." And he pointed to the exact spot of tenderness on the inside of the elbow. "But," he continues, "you've got to learn to live with it."

A half-dozen years ago, Unitas used to throw several hours a week to sharpen his marksmanship. The cut-down in work load is absolutely no reflection on his accuracy today. The unbeaten Colts continue to win because Unitas is still able to rifle a football into a crowd and hit his receivers in the danger zone, where a couple of inches strayed in any direction means interception.

He can hit them long or short, on a hitch or a fly. In fact, he has never passed better than in the first month of this season.

"He's getting tremendous protection," noted Raymond Berry, who has caught more passes than any receiver in history (almost all of them from Unitas, who has completed more than any passer in history). "And he's healthy. That's a tough combination."

The remarkable part of Unitas' display against the 49ers, a key game because both teams went into it undefeated, was his use of the long bomb as the strategic weapon in his passing arsenal.

Several years ago, when Unitas was supposed to be in a slump, he had a philosophical conflict with Weeb Ewbank, then the Colt coach, over the use of the long pass.

Ewbank wanted to keep them short and balance the offense with quick running jabs into the line. Unitas has always been a guy who gambles on going the distance.

"I don't believe in conservative passing," nodded long-time partner Berry, "when you can execute."

And John can execute—then and now. Against the 49ers, he threw by actual count 14 long bombs. He completed only three, but the first two Baltimore touchdowns were included among them, and the net effect of all the others was to make the San Franciscans so conscious of the long bomb threat that their defense sagged against Baltimore's cleverly contrived short throws and also permitted the Colts to put on their best ground attack of the season.

While the 49ers were chasing and double-teaming swift, young outside receivers Willie Richardson and Ray Perkins, Unitas deployed halfback Tom Matte over the middle for circle passes or slipped the ball to Tom for quick slashes through the line that averaged six yards each carry. He also located tight end John Mackey on quickens that produced first downs.

"He called a beautiful game," said coach Don Shula. "You know, John's free to develop whatever he thinks can work. We left we could hit 'em with the deep inside moves and went for it a few times."

A few is an understatement. I guess I must have thrown about eight long ones, and missed Unitas. By four ones I only count those that go over all yards.

He said it like a man who knows exactly how many times he can reach back and produce a long pass when it counts most—always on Sunday.

Crossett Next for Bobcats

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

If anyone has problems this week, most likely it's Freddie Glaze, head coach of the Hope Bobcats. After playing Malvern last Friday, he must prepare his forces for this week's battle with the Crossett Eagles.

Of course, Friday is the Homecoming game for the Bobcats; therefore the squad's mental health should be good for this one. And it's been a long time since Hope beat Crossett at football. The last time the Cats could pull the trick was in 1964 at Crossett, as the Bobcats whipped the Eagles 15-0 en route to a second straight 4-A title.

Remember tomorrow night's game between the Hope Jr. High Bobkittens and the Jefferson Avenue Piggies of Texarkana. The game will be played in Hammons Stadium, and the kickoff time is set for 7:30 p.m. Head Bobkitten Coach Gaylord Solomon, along with assistant Joe Austin, has readied the Kittens for this rough get-together, and these two fine coaches have done a remarkable job with the boys since work-outs began in the middle of August.

Eddie Stanky, manager of the American League Chicago White Sox, said in a press conference that the AL pennant race would keep football off the sports page headlines. And what race it was, as the Boston Red Sox pulled out the World Series berth by beating everybody's favorite Minnesota Twins the last two games.

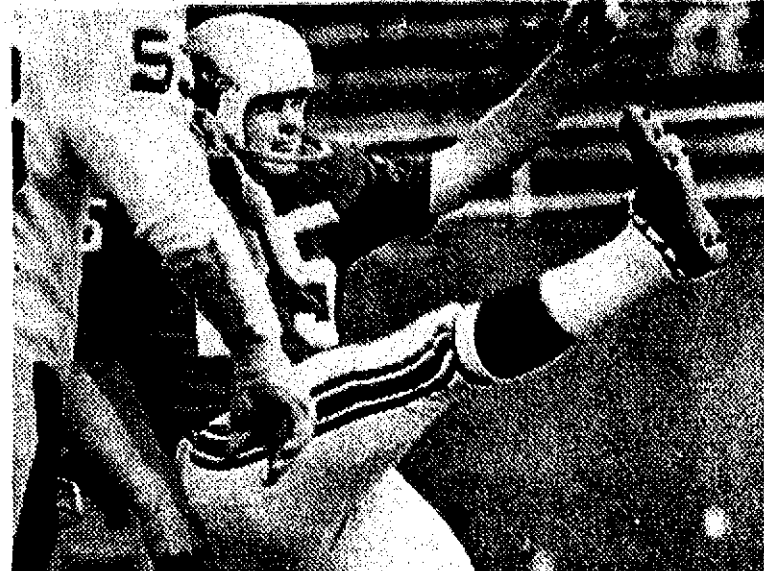

This afternoon the Red Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals hit the Fenway Park chlorophyll in Boston. The Sox will be pitching Jose Santiago, and the Cards will start Bob Gibson on the mound.

Who will win is anybody's guess. Our Arkansas Razorbacks enter Southwest Conference play on Saturday afternoon, as the Wild Hogs, boasting an 0-2 mark, take on the Texas Christian Horned Frogs in Fayetteville. By the way, TCU is also 0-2 for '67, in other action around the SWC, Texas Tech hosts Mississippi State in a night game; Texas A&M takes on Florida State, the team that tied Alabama 37-37; the Texas Longhorns play the Oklahoma State Cowpokes, 7-6 conquerors of Arkansas; SMU travels to Minnesota; Baylor's Bears host Washington State, and Rice is open.

The new No. 1 college team in the nation is the Southern California Trojans, and John McKay's men really deserve it. During "Black Week" USC held their own and slapped Texas 17-13, and last Saturday the Trojans came from behind to trip the Michigan State Spartans 21-17.

Michigan State, 9-0-1 a year ago, are 0-2 at this writing. At this point it seems the NCAA game of the year will be played on the 18th of November.

Southern Cal will hit the field on that sacred day across the line from the UCLA Bruins in Los Angeles, and the game will be nationally televised from the site. Furthermore, the rivalry between these two schools is so great that the TV people aren't even going to delay the broadcast as they did the famed Notre Dame-Michigan State stalemate, and the late fall atmosphere should bring forth the national champion in this, The Year of the Spoiler.

Chargers Find Good Running Back

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers are blessed with the American Football League's all-time leading rusher, halfback Paul Lowe.

But Lowe has been sidelined with an injury, forcing Coach Sid Gillman to use a rookie replacement who had worked mostly as a flanker since joining the Chargers last July.

He's Dickie Post, a No. 4 draft choice from University of Houston who has dazzled defenses with his darting quickness and helped the Chargers win their first three games.

The 5-foot-10, 195-pounder reeled off 121 yards in 20 tries last Sunday against the Bills in Buffalo. Lowe, suffering a pulled leg muscle, stayed in San Diego and watched the game on television.

"Post is really something," Gillman said. "He's our fastest man and one of the quickest. Our coaches always wanted to move him to the backfield but I was against it."

Gillman was afraid Post would be broken in half by big defensive tackles.

"I hate to take a little guy and send him through the big fellows. I like to keep guys like (Keith) Alworth and Post on the outside where we can throw

Malvern Right Back in Running

The Malvern Leopards have battled themselves back into the No. 1 spot in the Div. 4AA standings after an absence of three weeks. The Leopards, a pre-season pick for the title, are undefeated in league play but have a tie on their record.

The Leopards disposed of Hope 27-0 this past week while the Smackover Bucks were taking their first loss in league play 14-0 at Magnolia. Crossett kept their hopes alive with a 27-1 win over the Warren Lumberjacks. Camden posted their first victory of the season with a 14-7 win over Arkadelphia. In non-league action Fairview defeated Gurdon 26-12.

Conference action this week finds Malvern at Camden on Thursday night. Crossett goes to Hope, Magnolia at Arkadelphia and Warren to Smackover on Friday night. Fairview plays a non-league game against DeQueen.

Leigh Hargis of Warren took a sixteen point lead in the individual scoring race. He has five touchdowns and ten extra points for a 40-point total. Three others share second with 24 points: Nutt of Fairview, Garrett of Warren and Hollman of Crossett.

Hargis and B. Fred of Malvern share the lead in extra points with 10 PAT each.

Fairview continues to be the leading scoring team in the conference with 128 points. Magnolia has yielded the fewest—26 points. Fairview also leads in team rushing and first downs.

those poor Hawkeyes.

Nebraska over Kansas State, Frank Patrick, the 6-7 quarterback for the Huskers, matured quickly and they are strong candidates to win their fifth straight Big Eight crown.

Colorado over Iowa State, Wilmer Cook, Colorado's ace back, is as good as they come.

Alabama over Mississippi, Coach Bear Bryant says he's going to spend the week looking for a running back to replace the passing of Kenny Stabler.

Texas Tech over Michigan State: There are seven sophomores in the Mississippi State starting line-up.

Army over Duke: Bryant and a trio of competent quarterbacks gives the Cadets an edge.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Best Ulcer Treatment: Find Underlying Cause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—How long should a duo-denal ulcer that was bleeding be treated? My doctor says I must stay on my ulcer diet indefinitely.

A—Because so many bleeding ulcers occur without previous symptoms anyone who has had one and has been cured is well-advised to use every caution to prevent a recurrence. Your doctor has set you on the right track. Don't disappoint him.

Q—My brother-in-law is taking aluminum for his ulcer and says his ulcer doesn't bother him any more. Is this drug a cure for ulcers? Could it cause any bad side effects?

A—Various aluminum hydroxide preparations are used in the treatment of ulcers.
These antacids protect the ulcerated surface by coating it.
They cause no harmful side effects but they represent only one phase of the treatment. Finding and eliminating the underlying cause is the most important part.

Q—What does Bellergal do for an ulcer? How long must an antacid be taken? What is the usual length of time necessary to heal an ulcer when the diet and medicine are taken regularly?

A—Bellergal is a combination of ergotamine tartrate and belladonna, given to inhibit certain nervous impulses and phenobarbital, given to reduce nervous tension. It will not directly affect an ulcer but, since nervous tension is a causative factor, it helps to remove this cause and prevent a recurrence.
Many ulcers heal within three or four weeks under skillful treatment but, even with the best treatment, recurrences are common, especially if the underlying cause is not removed.

Q—I've been taking vinegar and honey in water every day. Could this cause an ulcer in time?

A—No, but it is not a sensible treatment. Claims for its much-touted benefits have been thoroughly disproved.

Q—Could a 21-year-old woman have congenital adrenal hyperplasia? My arms and legs are very hairy and I tire easily. My menstrual periods have always been painful.

A—Adrenal overactivity is more common in women than in men and usually has its onset between the ages of 20 to 40. It is characterized by hair on the face and chest rather than on the limbs, and by scanty rather than painful menstrual periods. Easy fatigability may have many causes, including a lack of sufficient regular exercise.
What is needed in your case is an examination that will lead to a positive diagnosis.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt,
M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Lawyers Plead Brown May Be Lynched

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) —
Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown's attorney argued in court today that his client might be lynched if extradited to Maryland.

Brown faces charges of inciting to riot and inciting to arson in Cambridge, Md. He is free on bond pending court action on extradition proceedings.

Attorney William Kunstler of New York opened a bid to block extradition in Alexandria Corporation Court today.

Brown was not present.
A federal judge who placed him on $10,000 bail restricted his movements except for court appearances.

Another of Brown's attorneys, Philip J. Hirschkop of Alexandria, told a newsman Brown did not appear in court because there was a legal question as to whether he was required to appear.

Kunstler, in his opening statement on a habeas corpus writ, said Brown's arrest in Virginia was illegal because it took place on federal property.

SOLUNAR TABLES

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Use Central Daylight Saving Time.

Cleveland Negro Is Nominated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negro attorney Carl B. Stokes won the Democratic nomination for mayor of Cleveland in the biggest political upset this city has seen in 26 years. Stokes told his supporters that "you have vindicated my faith in American democracy."

The personable, 40-year-old state representative faces Seth Taft, grandson of President William Howard Taft, in the Nov. 7 general election. A victory would make Stokes the first elected Negro mayor of one of the 10 largest cities in the United States.

Stokes had heavy support from the Negro community but also got help from white votes to score his impressive victory in Tuesday's primary.

With 900 of the 901 polling places reported, Stokes had 110,354 votes to 92,029 for incumbent Mayor Ralph S. Locher and 8,543 for Frank P. Celeste.

Stokes won against bitter opposition from the party organization, which appealed to racial sentiment in the closing stages of a heated campaign. He already has a promise of support from the two Democratic leaders defeated.

Both Locher and Celeste went to Stokes' campaign headquarters to congratulate him amid Tuesday night's victory celebration. Locher told newsmen he will support Stokes, and Stokes nor that a revision of the program should include a regulation that loans be made to persons whose monthly net income of $0 to $30 but not more than $50 and that the loans will be in amounts from 25 cents to $12 a month, not to exceed $18.

This is one of the Food Stamp Loan Program guidelines set out this May.

Rockefeller said only two percent of the $61,855.50 used to date in the program was loaned to persons whose net monthly income was under $30. He said that therefore 98 percent of the loans were made to persons with higher incomes.

He said 28 percent of the persons receiving the higher loans already were receiving aid from the Welfare Department.

"Amounts loaned, ranging from 25 cents to $14, far exceeded the guidelines which required loans to be made in amounts of from $2 to $12," the governor said.

The OEO also advised the governor that the loans should be made in the context with the Emergency Rural Food Stamp Loan Program established for immediate and urgent needs of the poor unemployed rural residents.

thanked the mayor for a "gracious" gesture.

Stokes also got a congratulatory all from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Republican party's strength is estimated at around 40,000 although many of the GOP faithful crossed the line to vote Democratic Tuesday.

This is indicated by the size of the Democratic primary vote, which just topped the previous record of 210,000 for a primary election set here in 1933.

Against Taft, Stokes will be pitted for the first time in a two-man race, with no one to split the white vote. Taft would have to get most of Locher's primary votes to win.

Hurricane Reported Dwindling

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Pocket-sized Hurricane Fern surged into northeastern Mexico above Tampico today still potent although fast dwindling.

Massive tides appeared to pose the gravest threat. There already was extensive flooding in the vicinity of Tampico, Mexico's second largest port. That city experienced similar hardship in Hurricane Inez nearly a year ago and saw 200 die in a 1955 flood.

Top winds in Hurricane Fern shrank to minimum hurricane force of 75 miles per hour in squalls while the weakening storm was still offshore in the Gulf of Mexico.

They maintained that velocity as the eye struck inland in an area of fishing villages and farm country.

A Weather Bureau advisory reporting Fern's arrival placed the center at 2 a.m. near Latitude 22.7 North and Longitude 97.7 West, or about 30 miles north of Tampico. It was expected to weaken even more rapidly with the center over land.

There were warnings in advance of tides six feet above normal in a small area near the eye and tapering down to between three and five feet in the sector from about 100 miles below Brownsville southward to Tampico.

Thousands evacuated Tampico, a city of 125,000 while the storm still approached.

By late Tuesday night, however, Jack Stewart of the Brownsville Weather Bureau said, "It looks like this thing will about wash out by the time it reaches the coast."

Fern bobbed up unexpectedly two days ago in the Gulf of Mexico instead of the South Atlantic, the usual birthplace for such storms.

Congress, in 1958, provided lifetime pensions of $25,000 a year for ex-presidents.

Teacher Union Head Found Guilty

NEW YORK (AP) — A State Supreme Court Justice today found United Federation of Teachers President Albert Shanker and his 50,000-member union guilty of criminal contempt in conducting the recent 14-day strike against the New York City's public schools.

Charges against two other union officials were dismissed by Justice Emilio Nunez.

Expels Security Dealer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Foundation Management Corp., of Little Rock has been expelled from membership in the National Association of Securities Dealers for violating rules of the Securities Exchange Commission and failing to file "complete and accurate information" with the NASD.

The association announced the expulsion Tuesday and said it had levied a $1,000 fine against Harry H. Crow Jr. of Little Rock, the president of the firm. It said it also had barred Crow from further association with any NASD members.

Crow, contacted at his home, said the action would have no practical effect, because the company had never actually done any business since it was formed in 1965.

Rules Full Crew Train Laws Illegal

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Two Arkansas laws requiring at least six crewmen on most freight trains were declared unconstitutional in an opinion filed in federal District Court here Tuesday.

A panel composed of federal Judges Martin D. Van Oosterhout of Sioux City, Iowa, John E. Miller of Fort Smith and J. Smith Henley of Little Rock said the full-crew train laws violated the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment and were an unconstitutional burden on interstate commerce. Their decree enjoined enforcement of the acts.

The state's full-crew law for passenger trains was not involved in the litigation, which was brought by six major railroads operating in Arkansas—the Rock Island Lines, Kansas City Southern Railway Co., Missouri Pacific Lines, Cotton Belt Route, St. Louis-San Francisco

HOPE FOR THE BIG BIRDS of tomorrow's airways may look like this artist's drawing of TWA's proposed Technical Services Center. An aerial view shows four 100-foot-high shell-shaped hangar bays where giant Boeing 747s and SSTs can undergo maintenance and overhaul.

(Frisco) Railway Co., and the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. The rail unions, which estimated that about 400 firemen's and brakemen's jobs would be eliminated if the laws were invalidated, intervened in the suit in opposition to the railroads.

Robert V. Light, a Little Rock attorney who represented the railroads in the case, said the ruling left only four states with full-crew laws—Wisconsin, New York, Ohio and Indiana.

The laws invalidated were: — Act 116 of 1907, which makes it an offense for a railroad operating a line of more than 50 miles to operate freight trains or more than 25 cars without having a train crew composed of "not less than an engineer, a fireman, a conductor and three brakemen."

— Act 67 of 1913, which makes it an offense for any railroad operating lines of 100 miles or more to engage in switching activities in cities of certain populations with "less than one engineer, a fireman, a foreman and three helpers."

The laws were declared valid in U.S. Supreme Court tests in 1911, 1916 and 1931.

The railroads contended that the facts on which these prior rulings were based were no longer correct because of improvements in locomotives, freight cars, couplers, brakes, trackage, roadbeds and operating methods.

The unions held that modern developments had multiplied the dangers of railroading, thus making the Arkansas statutes more necessary than ever.

Industry Silent on Slum Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's announcement it will work with private industry in five cities on a $40 million slum dwellers' job experiment finds the companies named apparently knowing little or saying nothing about the project.

Details were announced Tuesday by two Cabinet officers as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was telling the nation's top businessmen at a U.S. Chamber of Commerce meeting about his proposed tax incentives for businesses which build plants and homes in slums.

Kennedy welcomed the President's plan. The administration opposes his plan.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Commerce Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge said the pilot program will be conducted in Boston, Los Angeles, Chicago, Washington and San Antonio, Tex.

Wirtz and Trowbridge said firms participating will be Borg Warner and Sears Roebuck & Co. in Chicago, Lockheed Aircraft, McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft and Litton Industries in Los Angeles, and Avco and New England Electric in Boston.

In Chicago, a Sears spokesman said the firm wasn't notified of the program until Tuesday but agreed to meet with federal officials.

Mayor Walter Washington of Washington was not informed of the program until Monday, an Avco spokesman said his company had been contacted about the possibility of meetings with federal officials and that while no such meetings have been held yet, the firm is interested in learning more about the project.

There was no comment from McDonnell-Douglas and Litton in Los Angeles and no officials from Avco or New England Electric in Boston who knew of the program were available.

A Lockheed official in Los Angeles said the firm would "be happy to help" and added the company has had its own employee training program for six years.

Under the administration plan, industries locating plants in slums would get government help in insuring against risks. The government would make available surplus federal property and equipment.

At a news conference, Trowbridge said the administration plan was preferable to Kennedy's because "we are trying to achieve the same objective with existing legislation and money." Kennedy's plan would require new legislation.

The effort to create employment and housing for people in the slums was getting attention on other fronts Tuesday.

In the Senate, debate continued on a proposed $2.8 billion emergency job plan for the poor—opposed by the administration on budget-holding grounds and supported by Kennedy. A scaled-down $925 million version has been offered as a compromise.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told a group of businessmen who have pledged to train and hire minority workers that such a private enterprise program would help forestall huge governmental work programs.

"If you do not want government to play a larger role in all our lives, you must take on the task yourselves, as citizens, as leaders," he told members of Plans for Progress.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told a gathering of businessmen his department has managed to give training aid and other help to Negro soldiers and other servicemen who belong to minorities.

The department runs six training centers and hopes to operate up to 60 within a year, he said, giving job training aid to all servicemen needing it for imminent return to civilian life.

In 1931, 279 kidnappings were reported to have taken place in the United States, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Dogpatch Park Dedicated by Al Capp

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Cartoonist Al Capp, getting his first look at an 825-acre Ozark Mountain area where he and a group of Harrison businessmen are constructing a replica of his comic strip community of Dogpatch, U.S.A., said Tuesday that the locale was "fabulous, just fabulous."

"It's all so much more authentic than I'm going to change the comic to resemble this," he declared.

Capp said that of all the by-products of his Li'l Abner comic strip, he was most proud of this one.

"This is the one which will finally gain me some respect from my grandchildren, who until now have always thought of me as a silly man who just draws pictures," he told the more than 100 persons attending groundbreaking ceremonies for the $3 million project.

A. J. Snow, president of the development company, Recreational Enterprises, Inc., took Capp on a pre-ceremony tour of the area, which is located on Wednesday, October 4, 1967

Arkansas 7, about seven miles south of here. Completion of the project is expected to take three years, but all of the attractions now available to visitors they inspected—Dogpatch Caverns, the stagecoach and surrey rides, the farm area and a fishing lake.

Returning to an old stone house that serves as an information post, Capp inspected wall maps and pointed to the unfinished Skunk Hollow area.

David Wesley and Harrison Price of Economic Research Associates of Los Angeles, a consulting firm, estimated that 400,000 persons would visit Dogpatch the first year it opened.

Wilbur D. Mills Stands Pat on Tax Ultimatum

When Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat who is chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, first announced his group's ultimatum to President Johnson—cut federal expenses drastically or we'll bury your proposal to increase the income tax 10 percent—there were scoffers who said: "Just another politician talking big—but he'll back down when the heat is turned on."

But the heat came—and Mills and his committee stood pat. Yesterday the Ways & Means Committee, finding President Johnson and his advisors in no mood to yield, voted 20 to 5 to abandon consideration of the income tax hike.

The decision made history, for the wire service noted that while there was strong support for the ultimatum within the Mills group "it is highly unusual for the Ways & Means Committee to vote formally to lay a bill aside."

But it's been done, and now it's up to President Johnson to slash the budget or, lacking any tax increase, risk a report to the people showing that their government is operating at the greatest deficit in history.

The President, of course, rather than the Congress, is the one the people hold responsible for good management of government. Historically the Congress overspends, and it is the President who is supposed to check overspending with a veto.

But beginning with Franklin D. Roosevelt our Presidents developed a new trend—overspending from the White House, leaving exercise of the veto up to the Congress... an impossible situation. The word "No" can be spoken only from the White House, because it takes one man to say "No"—but it's impossible in the Congress with conflicting local interests paralyzing its hundreds of members.

The budget cut wanted by the Ways & Means Committee, reported to be from 5 to 7.2 billion dollars, evoked from George H. Mahon, Texas Democrat who heads the House Appropriations Committee a statement confirming the foregoing paragraph. In the words of the wire service: "Noting that members are reluctant to cut money for their own districts, Mahon warned that the price of economy 'may be higher than Congress is willing to pay.'"

That's precisely what the founders of this Republic foresaw when writing our Constitution. They handed the President the veto power and charged him with the responsibility of using it to keep government solvent.

But nowadays the President acts like a Congressman, and so some Congressmen have to act like a President—the name is Wilbur D. Mills.

Angus Sale Here Nearly $150,000

Freeda's Angus Farm held its closest sale yesterday and some 291 head of registered Aberdeen Angus cattle sold for nearly $150,000, an average of over $500 per head.

The bulls averaged nearly $1,200 per head, the females nearly $450 each. It was perhaps the largest Angus sale in Arkansas and attracted buyers from at least 12 states.

The farm was owned by Mrs. Freeda Grennan who is leaving Hope after about 15 years.

Mrs. Grennan is generally credited with being the leading figure in developing this area's $50 million poultry industry. Some time ago Mrs. Grennan disposed of her poultry holdings to the Kroger Co. but continued on as manager for over two years.

Real Individualist Is Rugged Man Who Has One Sideburn

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping Any number of men now wear beards to prove they dare to be different, but you'll know you're dealing with a real rugged individualist when you meet a guy who wears only one sideburn.

My ouija board tells me the St. Louis Cardinals will win the World Series—count 'em, six—times.

Yesterday's thrill is today's yawn. There was a time when the novels of Sir Walter Scott were forbidden to daughters by stern fathers who thought them too romantic and exciting for maidenly eyes. It is hard to think of any young person's pulse being stirred today by reading "Ivanhoe" or "The Fortunes of Nigel."

The hot dog is still celebrated as a national delicacy, but a good spicy Italian sausage makes the average picnic frankfurter seem as flavorless as wood pulp.

Blondes have more dandruff than brunettes—at least those do who lean their heads on my blue serge shoulders.

If they gave medals to civilians for courage, they'd have to give one to every blind man who taps his way around Manhattan, in and out of subways, with only an aluminum cane as a guide. That takes more real valor than to go on any number of night patrols through no-man's land in wartime.

The surest way to cure insomnia is to see REAL.

Antipoverty Compromise Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate stripped from the anti-poverty bill today the $2.8-billion emergency job program rider opposed by the Johnson Administration. The vote was 54-28.

The rider, added to the measure in the Senate Labor Committee by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., was designed to provide 200,000 jobs this year and 300,000 next for unemployed and low-income persons.

Earlier in the day, Clark and his supporters had thrown their backing to a compromise $925-million job plan but this was rejected 47 to 42.

The $925-million plan had been offered as a substitute for a $2.8-billion proposal.

Supporters of the latter job proposal had thrown their backing to the compromise, conceding that the original plan probably would be defeated.

Junior Miss Contest to Be Held Here

The annual Southwest Arkansas Junior Miss district program will be held here October 21, at Hope High School. The district will include outstanding high school seniors from Miller, Little River, Pike, Hempstead, Nevada, Sevier and Howard counties. The letters of invitation to qualified seniors have been sent to the principals in these counties.

The Arkansas Junior Miss Program won first place as the nation's "Best State Pageant" for 1966-67. The purpose of this program is to seek the ideal high school senior girl by offering students an incentive and a goal through awards of scholarships and prizes. The Junior Miss state and national presentations totaled over $250,000 last year.

The national sponsors include Chevrolet, Eastman Kodak Co., Breck Co., and Scott Products Co. The state sponsor is the Arkansas Youth Council. This year's national star is Arkansas' own Rosemary Dunaway American Junior Miss, who is now attending Sweet Briar College in Virginia.

Ultimatum to LBJ on Spending Cut

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, threatened by the House for weeks to cut spending or see his tax hike bill go down the drain, now has the ultimatum in black and white.

The tax-writing Ways and Means Committee voted 20 to 5 for a resolution putting aside the bill for a 10 percent income "until such time as the President and the Congress reach an understanding" on spending cuts.

But the full House narrowly refused to order Johnson to slash spending $5 billion. It did give the Appropriations Committee more time to find ways of cutting the budget and acted to insure that departments whose appropriations haven't been finally voted yet will be able to meet their payrolls and other expenses at least through Oct. 10.

In last week's maneuverings, the House held up a vote on the temporary appropriations bill in a bid to force the Appropriations Committee to come up with a spending cut plan.

But the Ways and Means Committee's action Tuesday provided a clear enough message to the White House on congressional attitude about spending reductions.

But numerous questions of just where spending should be cut await congressional decisions.

On Tuesday alone, the Senate Appropriations Committee voted to add $95.5 million to the House-passed space money bill.

A Senate-House conference committee added $13.5 million to a bill to continue the Teacher Corps, after the House had voted nothing for the program.

And the House passed a compromise bill to authorize $2.3 billion in military construction projects after hearing it described as "the most austere" measure possible.

There was no immediate administration reaction to the Ways and Means Committee's action.

One spokesman said he looked for no action by the administration. "I don't see any movement at the moment," he said. "I wouldn't look for any fast reaction."

The Ways and Means Committee has been insisting on tangible evidence of a spending cut of about $5 billion before it sends a tax increase bill to a reluctant House. Johnson has insisted major spending cuts can be calculated only after Congress passes the appropriations bills.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told newsmen after the Ways and Means action: "It's hopeless."

There will be Open House for members at the Country Club following the Hope-High football game Friday night.

Bus Wreck Leaves 40 Children Hurt

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A loaded dump truck and a school bus carrying handicapped children collided and overturned on a Jacksonville street today, severing the legs of a woman on the bus and injuring several children.

More than 40 children were hospitalized but none was believed seriously hurt.

Police said Mrs. Olivia Brooks, a temporary attendant to the children, lost both legs when the bus overturned. She was in serious condition.

Investigating officers said the mishap occurred on a Jacksonville Expressway artery when the truck, apparently out of control, crashed through a barrier and smashed into the oncoming bus.

Needy Negro Family Aided by Alliance

Within the past two months a family of six living on North Walnut Street and two widow women living together on North Laurel Street lost their homes and contents by fire. The Hope Negro Ministerial Alliance, Rev. Walter White, Pres., is leading the appeal to the community for help. It is hoped that articles can be picked up during the week so as to make it easy to close the appeal this coming Saturday afternoon.

Mr. William Nelson and his family are presently living with his aunt on East Shover Street, third house left just beyond the end of the pavement. Mrs. Linnie Cox is at 820 Dairy Street and Mrs. Rachel Dickens is on North Bell Street, last house on the right.

Together they need 3 beds, 3 springs, 2 full mattresses, 1 baby bed mattress, 4 dressers, 4 chest of drawers, 3 cook stoves, 2 refrigerators, 6 heaters, 2 dozen window shades, 2 dining room tables and 7 chairs, living room furniture, sheets, pillow cases, towels, dishes, pots and pans, silverware and rugs. Hospital Bonds Rejected

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — St. Francis County voters rejected Tuesday a proposed 152-bed expansion of the Forrest Memorial Hospital and Nursing Home here.

With 24 of 25 boxes in, the vote against the $3,248,884 bond issue needed to help finance the 10-year project was 1,287 to 1,011. The vote against a two-mill tax increase that would have supported the bonds was 1,329 to 994. The current tax is two mills.

The bond issue would have provided about one-third of the cost of the expansion. The remainder of the money was to have come from federal Hill-Burton matching funds and from federal grants.

Dirksen Hits Critics of War Course

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A slashing attack by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, on critics of President Johnson's war course threatens to splinter any Republican unity on the Vietnam issue for the 1968 elections.

The Senate GOP leader, who expects to have a guiding hand in drafting the party's platform next year, fired at Republicans and Democrats alike in a desk-pounding, fist-shaking indictment Tuesday of those willing to settle for something less than a Communist defeat in Vietnam.

In a blistering exchange with Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over whether American security is at stake in the conflict, Dirksen trained his guns on recent dovish proposals by Sens. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., and his Illinois colleague, Sen. Charles H. Percy.

This contrasted sharply to his fulsome praise for Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, his leadership assistant, who said the United States must not abandon its Asian commitments. Kuchel told the Senate this country must not accept some "nameless settlement" just to end the war.

Dirksen lectured his colleagues for trying, he said, to run the war from the Senate floor. He counseled Johnson's critics not to demean the presidency.

"You do not demean him in the eyes of the people abroad because when you do, you demean the prestige of this republic," he roared. "I cannot denigrate or demean him in the eyes of the world in anything I say."

Without naming his colleague, Dirksen challenged Percy's Monday statement that more than half of the American people disapprove of the manner in which the President is conducting the war and that Johnson has not persuaded U.S. allies to bear their full share of the conflict.

Dirksen said more than 30 other countries are lending assistance in one form or another in Vietnam. He said domestic criticism of the war course might make American servicemen "begin to wonder whether they are forgotten men, forgotten at home."

"I am not going to forget them," he said. The GOP leader criticized Morton, without naming him, for advocating an end to search-and-destroy missions and calling for U.S. concentration on defending the population centers and ports of South Vietnam.

Search-and-destroy, Dirksen said, "is the only real technique we have that is effective." Dirksen also challenged those who advocate turning the Vietnam matter over to the United Nations. He held such a move would be vetoed by the Soviet Union in the Security Council.

Republican senators backing U.N. intervention have included Morton, Percy, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, George D. Aiken of Vermont and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

Merger Is Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The merger of the Southwestern States Telephone Co. and General Telephone Co. of the Southwest was approved Monday by the state Public Service Commission.

The commission said the merger would have no adverse effect on the customers of either firm.

General Telephone and Electronics Corp., owns all the common stock of both companies. General Telephone will be the surviving corporation of the merger.

Hope, Bodcaw Telephones to Be Converted

All telephones in Hope and Bodcaw will be converted to All Number Calling (ANC) in November, 1968.

At that time, telephone numbers will change from the present two letter-five digit system to an all-numeral numbering system, Joe Mahan, manager for Southwestern Bell, said.

He said that, for example, the Hope number "PR7-4601" will change to "777-4601." The Bodcaw number "TW 9-2222" will change to "899-2222."

Mahan said about three-fourths of the telephones in the United States have already been converted to All Number Calling. The change to a new numbering system is necessary because of the tremendous growth in the number of telephones. Telephone companies would eventually run out of suitable numbers if they did not convert to All Number Calling, Mahan said.

Mahan said that during the period before the full changeover, new customers and customers who request moves or changes requiring a telephone number change will be given the option of going to an all-numeral number. This, of course, could result in many telephone users having all-numeral numbers before the date of the full conversion.

"We are converting to All Number Calling in this manner because we don't want to inconvenience our customers," Mahan said. "This gives everyone sufficient notice and, at the same time, enables new customers and those having number changes to go ahead and change to All Number Calling if they want to."

Mahan said that at the time of the full cutover the prefix is the only part of the telephone number that will change, in most cases. The last four digits of most numbers will remain the same. He noted, too, that the location of the all-number prefix on the telephone dial will be the same as the present prefix, meaning of course, that telephone users will continue dialing exactly as they do now.

Telephone directories listing the new numbers will be distributed when the changeover is made.

"All telephone users in Hope and Bodcaw will be notified of the conversion to All Number Calling, and their new number," Mahan said. "Persons who plan to order stationery and other printed material on which telephone numbers are carried should keep in mind that their number will change in November 1968."

The changeover to all-numeral numbers in Hope and Bodcaw is part of a Southwestern Bell program to convert all telephones in the states served by the company to All Number Calling gradually over the next few years.

"With All Number Calling, telephone numbers in Hope and Bodcaw will be of the same type as most phone numbers throughout the country," Mahan said. "Within a few years, the number of dial combinations using two letters and five digits, such as present local numbers, will have been exhausted in many parts of the nation," he said. "Now that Direct Distance Dialing is in use around the country, no two telephone numbers can be alike in the same numbering plan area."

"All number telephone numbers allow us to expand the possible combinations of dial pulls by about 50 per cent in each numbering plan area," he said. Mahan noted that all-numeral numbers will eliminate dialing errors caused by confusion of the numeral "1" with the letter "I" and of the letter "O" with "zero."

The late Philip Hal Sims was unquestionably the greatest player in the world in the first days of contract. Like most top-notch players Hal had a fondness for no-trump contracts. He played lots of them and he played them as well as possible.

He would have been better advised to have raised diamonds with today's hand. There is no defense against a five-diamond contract and plenty of defense against three no-trump. So much defense that in a 1932 tournament all no-trump declarers except Hal went down.

The play at all tables except Hal's started with South winning the spade lead with the queen and knocking out the ace of diamonds. The queen of spades play told West where the king was but each West decided that South would have falsecarded with the king if he really held a guard for the second honor. Therefore each West laid down his ace of spades and collected four quick spade tricks.

When Hal was declarer he won the jack of spades with the king; led a club to dummy's ace and played out the king of diamonds.

West was in with the ace and tried to figure out what Hal was up to. He might just be playing around without the queen of spades or he might have the queen of spades, a small spade and no ace of hearts.

Then West considered Hal's reputation for awhile. He knew that Hal was considered to be the best dummy player in the world and a specialist in no-trump play.

Finally West led a heart and Hal had justified his reputation.
